Privacy and Openness Translucent screens stretch across elliptical steel frames to envelop the workspace, balancing privacy and communication.

New Planning Model A3 workstations can be combined in an infinite array of clusters, or space-efficient rows. The compound curves of individual workstations generate useful, interstitial spaces and a lively topology.

Easy to Specify A3 frames, screens and worksurfaces can be ordered as complete workstations, freeing you from having to select components separately.

Power and Data The Sett power pole supplies power and data cables to clusters of workstations from a suspended ceiling or cable tray. The Power Mod enables individual workstations to tap into power, data and communication cables.

Storage Tript and Filez mobile pedestals and Aerial overhead storage units in colorful plastics are shaped to house more than your standard files and binders.

Individual Accessories The Flipp lamp rotates, tilts and transitions from task to ambient lighting. The Orbit cup and Scoop dish provide personal storage.

New Materials and Ergonomic Ease

UV-cured, powder-coat painted worksurfaces have seamless edges and resilient palm rests and trim. Storage components are made of injection-molded, color-integral ABS with tactile pulls. 100 percent polyester mesh fabric comes in solid colors or four gradation patterns, with the option for customized prints.

Environmental Responsibility

A3 workstations are completely recyclable and have lower overall mass than traditional systems furniture. With its high recycled content, A3 can help you meet the U.S. Green Building Council's LEED™ requirements.

Athletic. Optimistic. Nonconformist. A3 is like no other office system. The A3 system offers an array of workstation types and specially designed components to provide a total system that responds to your essential needs with spirit and a respect for individuality.
