

Toledo Chair
Jorge Pensi

TOLEDO CHAIR Barcelona architect and industrial designer Jorge Pensi brings his forward-looking aesthetic to KnollStudio with the Toledo chair. An instant classic, the chair is featured in the permanent collection of The Museum of Modern Art. The Toledo chair is a fluid combination of cast-aluminum back and seat sections joined by tubular aluminum arms and legs. The chair's material makes it versatile in application; it is appropriate for use both indoors and out and is 100% recyclable. An optional seat pad in fabric or leather is available.

JORGE PENSI Jorge Pensi established his Barcelona-based multidisciplinary design practice with Alberto Liévore in 1977 after studying architecture in his native Buenos Aires. Pensi also collaborates with his wife, Carme Casares, on graphic design projects. He has lectured on design in Spain, the United States and at the Royal College of Art in London.
