More than ever, office design today relies on the warmth and natural beauty of wood to infuse a feeling of hospitality into the workplace. For nearly 80 years, Knoll has brought the refinement and performance of wood to work environments, helping to create inspiring places for people to do their best. Our attention to detail and our focus on proportion, scale, and the appropriate use of materials and finishes is unsurpassed. Our new finishing technology expands our wood manufacturing expertise, combining the timelessness of good design with the enduring qualities of careful workmanship.

Our core collection consists of 25 natural and Techwood veneers. In addition, we now offer open and closed pore options in high, medium, and low gloss levels – giving specifiers a greater range of design options to realize their vision.

NEW VENEER FINISHING TECHNOLOGY

Our new finishing line, twice the length of a football field, delivers veneer finishes to exacting specifications for quality, consistency, and integrity, in a broad range of options.

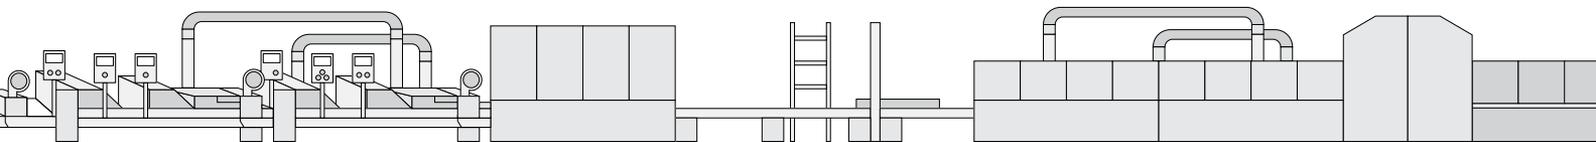

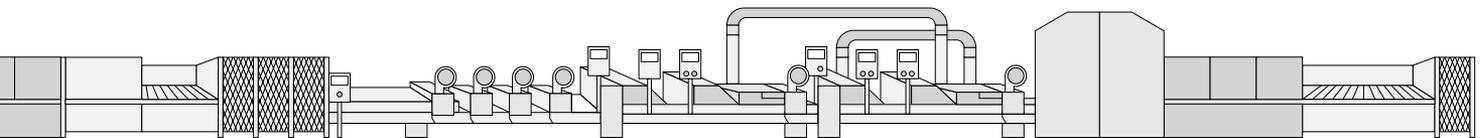

Our attention to detail and quality has resulted in an unmatched portfolio of environmentally responsible wood products.

Knoll Office products are manufactured using wood from responsibly managed forests. We are also recognized as a leader in clean manufacturing technology.

The Forest Stewardship Council® (FSC) certification (FSC® C028824) ensures that Knoll products bearing the FSC mark are manufactured with wood from forests that protect environmental, social, and economic values.
