Mercer Table

Lucia Mercer

Knoll

Designed for Knoll in 1982, THE MERCER TABLE expresses the designer's deep familiarity with stone as well as her sculptural sensitivity. Geometrically pure and formal in design, yet emotionally expressive, the Mercer table exhibits a precise, thoughtfully considered form with exquisite balance and proportion

Lucia Mercer studied landscape architecture at Cornell University; later she apprenticed at the Cold Spring Granite Quarry in Ausable Forks, NY, where she developed an intimate understanding of the character and power of stone.
