Iquo Café Collection

Tables

The Iquo Café Collection tables features an elegant pedestal base, made of four vertical tubes, that provides wire management for power use and is intentionally flat where it meets the floor for comfortably resting your feet. Available with either a square or round top, the Iquo Café Collection tables are offered in a variety of materials, like resin, laminate and stone.

Designer Ini Archibong's West African heritage energizes Knoll's modern design legacy in this corresponding set of tables and chairs. The collection—which provides a place to gather both indoors and out in hospitality spaces, offices, and on campus—is named after three generations of Archibong women who share the name Iquo, and the design embraces the moniker's feminine spirit in balancing elegant curvature with strength and durability.
